Jones Foster mourns the loss of beloved Partner and Emeritus Board Member H. Adams Weaver, a respected and distinguished member of the legal community.

Mr. Weaver joined Jones Foster in 1988 following his significant contributions to the growth of the law firm Johnston, Sasser, Randolph, and Weaver. Long considered a preeminent attorney in the area of eminent domain and land use litigation, he dedicated his career to the representation of his clients—including developers, utilities, private landowners, and investors—before governmental bodies across the state.

Mr. Weaver's expertise, professionalism, mentorship, and integrity influenced those with whom he worked, and his legacy will live on in the firm through the impact he made on the profession.

We extend our deepest sympathies to his family at this difficult time.

About H. Adams

Adams Weaver has maintained a statewide practice in eminent domain and related land use litigation for over thirty-five years. In addition to his eminent domain and land use practice, Adams has successfully litigated numerous complex commercial and contested matters. Adams is responsible for one of the largest condemnation awards in the history of Florida in the amount of $110,000,000 and has been counsel of record in cutting edge cases impacting Florida Law.

Adams represents businesses in a wide variety of industries including industrial and agricultural properties, owners of large vacant property, and individual homeowners.

As a result of his extensive eminent domain experience, Adams is frequently called upon to lecture at a variety of seminars on topics in his area of focus and authored a chapter in The Florida Bar Florida Eminent Domain Practice and Procedure Manual. Adams has served as Chairman of the Florida Bar Eminent Domain Committee and has been an active member since 1976. In addition to his practice in eminent domain, Adams has served as Vice Chair of the Code and Rules of Evidence Committee of the Florida Bar and the Rules of Civil Procedure Committee of the Florida Bar.
